Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Some information was brought out in the meeting of the Calloway County Agricultural Council which everyone should know about.

The information was compiled by E. B. Howton and pointed out by Hamp Brooks and C. O. Bondurant.

Calloway County ranks first in the Purchase and is in the upper 10 per cent in the state in having soil tested for fertilizer needed for row crop production.

More dairymen in Calloway County have free-stall housing for dairy cattle than any county in the Purchase and probably in the state.

Calloway is one of the top ten counties in the state and the highest county in the Purchase in the percentage of dairy cows bred artificially. Had the greatest percentage increase in 1964 of any county in the state.

The first county in the state to set up and use the "Type and Production" classes for dairy cattle at county fairs.

Calloway was the fifth county in the state to become Brucellosis free.

The origin of the Agricultural Council idea was in Calloway County. This county has had regular meetings each month for the past 37 years. The State Agricultural Council started from the rules and regulations set up by this county.

Calloway County is one of the leading counties using herbicides for weed control.

This is the first county in the Purchase to have a full time adult teacher of agriculture.

A greater percentage of Calloway County high school graduates attend college than any other county in the Purchase and one of the highest in the state.

All banks in Calloway County have an agricultural representative, each holding a B. S. degree in agriculture.

The idea of the Kentucky National Dairy and Beef Show and Sale was conceived and first promoted by Calloway County farmers and agricultural leaders of the county.

In all-district hog carcass shows put on by the State Department of Agriculture, Calloway County has consistently placed higher than any other county in the district.

Calloway is one of the leading counties in the state to organize and set up carcass contests for beef and hogs.

Calloway produces the best quality popcorn in the world. It produces more than all other counties in the state combined. The farmers immediately adjusted to this cash crop production.

The only All-Jersey program in the state started in Calloway County.

The percentage of high school students enrolled in vocational agriculture receiving State Farmer and American Farmer degrees is top in the Purchase and ranks as one of the highest in the state.

This just goes on and on and represents the fruits of the labors of fellows like G. B. Scott, A. Corns and a host of others. There are all factors which can be easily proved with facts and figures.

Use Today To Make A Better Tomorrow, Rotary Is Told

Bro. Jay Lockhart, minister of the Seventh and Poplar Church of Christ and Rotarian, was the speaker Thursday for the Murray Rotary Club.

Bro. Lockhart was introduced by Henry Holton who was in charge of the program.

"We should all be thankful for our heritage," Bro. Lockhart told the members of the club and their guests. He pointed out that many times we take things for granted and forget the sacrifices that have made freedom possible today.

"Many people sacrificed their tomorrow for your today," he told the club.

Bro. Lockhart recounted to the club how the signers of the Declaration of Independence suffered real and personal sacrifice for the freedom they were willing to "give up their tomorrow so that we could have our today."

He lauded those who participated in World War I, World War II, the Korean War and the war in Viet Nam, for their willingness to sacrifice in order to preserve the freedom enjoyed by Americans.

Bro. Lockhart posed the question as to whether people really appreciate this sacrifice. He pointed out that those who run the government over the past several years have allowed a huge public debt to accumulate, which must be paid off some day by some one. This debt will fall on the shoulders of our children and grandchildren, he continued.

He pointed out that the crime rate is rising faster than the population growth.

Bro. Lockhart concluded his talk by posing the question "how can we use today to make tomorrow better. After pointing out that Christ gave his all for the future of mankind, Bro. Lockhart said that we can be ready to take advantage of opportunity; we can be filled with service to our fellow man; and we can be submissive to the will of God.

If we adhere to these three points, he concluded, then we can insure that our today will make a better tomorrow for future generations.

Preceding Bro. Lockhart's talk, several outstanding high school seniors and their principals were introduced to the club.

From College High were Gloria Green and Diana Cavett. They were introduced by Mrs. Jo Lovett, representing Principal Vernon Shown.

A third student, Marc Hayes was introduced by Mrs. Hayes.

Principal Ed Alexander of Murray High introduced Max Russell, Mary Robbins, and Ed West.

Bill Miller, principal of Calloway County High, introduced Jim Kelley, Carolyn Towery and Connie Hopkins.

All of the students introduced said high school activities and active in extracurricular activities.

Dr. Clyde Faries of Birmingham, New York, was introduced by C. O. Bondurant as a visiting Rotarian.

Possible Change In Milk Price Is Seen

PADUCAH, Ky. (UP) — A possible change in this area's milk prices is to be considered at a public hearing here next Tuesday, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

The present price, set by a federal milk marketing order to help dairy farmers, sets minimum prices for fluid milk sold by farmers serving this area of Kentucky and parts of Missouri. It does not, however, set standards on the prices consumers pay.

New prices cannot be effected without approval of at least two thirds of the dairy farmers serving the area.

81 Recruits Die In Plane Crash

By ALEX ADWAN
United Press International

GENE AUTRY, Okla. (UP) — A charter airplane transporting a group of young Army recruits crashed on a second landing attempt in a thunderstorm Friday night, killing 81 of the 98 persons aboard.

The four-engine turbo-prop, carrying 92 soldiers and a crew of 6, burst into flames as it plunged into a hillside, riding through thousands of yards of trees and into a herd of cattle.

The crash was the third worst military air disaster to occur in the United States. It was the second major crash of its type involving a chartered airplane.

The plane was operated by American Flyers airline which the FBI said was recently investigated for engine failures. An FBI spokesman said "no indication of intentional damage" was found. It was the airline's first crash in 27 years of operation.

The recruits, who had left Ft. Ord, Calif., included 64 soldiers assigned to Ft. Benning's airborne training school, and possibly earning duty in Viet Nam. All volunteered for the assignment.

The plane was piloted by American Flyers President Reed Piggan who was killed in the crash. It missed its first approach for a landing at Ardmore, Okla., Industrial Airpark where it was to refuel and change its crew.

"We missed the first approach and went around," said J. E. Wright who works at the flight service station. "He said, 'I'm going to come back, I like runway 12.'"

"We had a flash of lightning and a fireball. We had some thunderstorm activity and we don't know whether the flash was the plane or lightning."

Rescue parties rushed to the wreckage to remove the dead and survivors. "All we need are ambulances... send us more ambulances," said a report on police radio.

One of the survivors, Pvt. James Gorman of Bellevue, N.Y., remained conscious throughout. He said he felt the plane "wobble" then the impact. He saw a flashing light, and then was surrounded by fire.

Although temporarily pinned in his seat, Gorman soon freed himself.

Man With Artificial Heart Better

By Paul Freeman
United Press International

HOUSTON (UP) — Marcel L. De Rudder, 65, the man who was helped with the plastic heart, actually improved today. Doctors reported in a morning condition bulletin that he "seems better in every respect."

The tough coal miner whose natural heart is taking a rest to heal itself, and most of whose life is being sustained by an artificial heart, showed "slight improvement" today in his vital sign patterns showing up on an electroencephalograph.

Doctors said "His other vital signs are beginning to stabilize. The left ventricular bypass (artificial heart) continues to work satisfactorily and performs about 75 per cent of the work of the left ventricle."

The hopeful note of the report was the first such sign in the usually by non-committal medical reports coming out of Methodist Hospital, where De Rudder received his artificial heart chamber in an historic operation by famed surgeon Dr. Michael E. DeBakey Thursday.

De Rudder, a coal miner from Westville, Ill., was unconscious since the operation began Thursday in which a grapefruit-sized artificial heart was implanted. It took over nearly all the tasks of his own failing heart.

A spokesman for the surgeon, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, said De Rudder's condition was not a coma. De Rudder's wife, Edna, 60, visited her husband's room at Methodist Hospital twice Friday. After the first visit, she left in tears.

DeBakey has spent every possible minute at the side of the Belgian immigrant's side in whose chest slumped an artificial heart that carries the hope of life and recovery for thousands each year.

But doctors said De Rudder possibly had suffered "temporary brain damage." DeBakey told Mrs. De Rudder her husband might be unconscious for as long as a week.

Sometimes we find it is too late to do what needs to be done. "The night cometh when no man can work," and it must wait. But there is always a tomorrow and a night in which to prepare for tomorrow's task, in the home, office, store or Temple.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Saturday, April 23, the 118th day of 1966 with 252 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening star is Jupiter.

William Shakespeare was born on this day in 1564.

On this day in history:

In 1791, James Buchanan, the 15th President of the United States was born.

In 1793, the French national anthem, "Marseillaise," was written.

In 1915, British poet Rupert Brooke died in Greece while on duty with the Royal Navy in World War I. He had written: "If I should die, think only this of me: that there's some corner of a foreign field that is forever England."

In 1965, more than 200 American planes struck North Viet Nam in one of the heaviest raids of the war.

A thought for the day — English playwright, George Bernard Shaw said: "The worst sin towards our fellow creatures is not to heed their sufferings, but to be indifferent to them; that's the essence of inhumanity."

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's two leading stock exchanges closed today with gains. The New York stock exchange rose 12 1/2 points to 1,000.00, the minimum amount an investor or speculator can buy or sell in a single transaction. The move is aimed at reducing the number of small speculators in a market whose wide swings and big volume in recent weeks has brought warnings from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and American Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK — Both the New York and American Stock exchanges announced they will introduce a new, smaller, computerized stock index, based on 800 listed stocks. The index will start June 1, that of the big board later.

WASHINGTON — The cost of living rose four-tenths of a percent, the lowest in 12 months, according to the Department of Commerce. The report said it expects a further advance in April.

The bill proposes spending $2.4 billion over six years on urban renewal and other projects to re-plan slums. Only $12 million for planning and development would be made available during fiscal 1967. Blaisdell said the entire sum should be earmarked for the first year of the program, however.

Harry Walker Cures A Big Headache For The Cardinals

By JEFF MEYERS
UPI Sports Writer

The next time the St. Louis Cardinals ask Harry Walker to cure a headache, he'll prescribe aspirin. "Centerfield was a big headache in 1961," said Walker, who coached the Cardinals prior to becoming manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1964. So Walker worked with top-notch defensive outfielder Curt Flood and transformed him into an outstanding hitter who batted .322 last season.

Flood, who has always been grateful to Walker for teaching him the fine techniques of hitting, snapped Pittsburgh's six-game winning streak Friday night by piling a three-run homer to lead St. Louis to a 7-5 victory.

Flood, whose ninthinning home run Thursday beat the New York Mets 5-4, has been a terror with a bat since Walker's tutelage, hitting above .300 three times since 1961.

"I wasn't even trying to hit a home run—I just wanted to meet the ball," said Flood, who is second in the National League in runs batted in with 12 and third in batting with a .412 average. "If I try hitting home runs, I'll wind up as a 250 hitter."

Elsewhere in the senior circuit, Stouy Koufax led Los Angeles to a 3-1 victory over Chicago. Philadelphia's rained Cincinnati's delayed opener 9-7. Atlanta won its first game in Dixie by whipping New York 5-4, and Houston snapped San Francisco's five-game winning streak 2-0.

In the American League, California edged Minnesota 2-1, while the Detroit-Washington and Chicago-Kansas City games were postponed because of inclement weather.

With the score deadlocked 4-4 in the fifth inning, Lou Brock singled, Julian Javier walked and Flood walked a 3-0-0 home over the terrified wall. Willie Stargell's three-run round-tripper in the top of the inning had tied the game. The Cardinals left no men on base.

Koufax, who could pitch only six innings in his previous outing, allowed six hits and struck out 11 as the Dodgers won their sixth game in their last seven starts. Jeff Torborg, going 3-for-4, singled home the winning run in the sixth to hand Chicago its sixth straight loss. The Cubs collected 17 hits, including three each from Johnny Callison, Rich Allen and Cookie Rojas, and a two-run homer by Bill White. The Phils, who came from behind twice to send the Reds to their sixth consecutive setback, scored the eventual winning runs in the eighth on a walk, a double

American Society for Metals states that as early as 1000 B. C. there was a vast expenditure in the production of iron, copper, and silver; iron welded into compound tools and weapons; the stamping of coins; and the gilding of bronze and silver with gold alloys.

Dear Abby

Customer Credit Is Being Overdone

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a small independent grocer, and I have a question for you. Why do some customers (including relatives) ask for groceries on credit, but when they have the cash they will drive an extra mile to shop at a supermarket and give their money to strangers? The people they give cash to wouldn't give them groceries on credit if their whole family was dying of malnutrition.

FED UP WITH PEOPLE
DEAR FED UP: There are two kinds of people in this world: the givers and the takers. The credits customers (including your relatives) who spend their cash elsewhere are takers. You may complain, but the next time someone is broke and needs groceries on credit, you won't turn him down, because you are a giver. The takers may eat better — but the givers sleep better.

DEAR ABBY: I would like a straight answer. In order for a person to get places in this world, is it what you know or who you know?
J. B. IN K.C.

DEAR J. B.: It's neither, it's whom you know.

DEAR ABBY: My children are just average, but they are good kids. I have no outstanding behavior among my children, and while they do have friends, none of them is wildly popular. My boys are average students, just fair in sports, but none of them ever made the team. A relative of mine has outstanding children. They are popular, good looking, and get lots of honors. And he doesn't let me forget it for a moment. What can I say when he collars me and brags on and on about his kids?

STUCK FOR WORDS
DEAR STUCK: Nothing. Just because a jackass brags doesn't mean you have to answer him.

DEAR ABBY: No woman in her right mind would hire a housekeeper to come into her home and look after her children without first checking to learn where she had worked before, the reason she is no longer working there, and something about her character, disposition and temperament.

So why, when one is considering marrying a previously divorced person, doesn't she or he sit down and have a long talk with the former mate? One could learn more just listening for an hour than living with someone for a year.

PRACTICAL
DEAR PRACTICAL: No doubt. But when the emotions are involved few are "practical." When one desperately wants something, he refuses from examining it too closely lest he discover too many imperfections. In other words, most people enjoy living with illusions.

TV CAMEOS: Jane Wyatt

Back in the 'Heart of the Concrete'

By ED MISUREL

"HE THINKS I'm absolutely out of my mind," said Jane Wyatt with a bright smile as she sat in a plush midtown New York hotel.

The Emmy award-winning star, known to millions of viewers for her long-running role of Margaret Anderson in Father Knows Best, was discussing the reaction of her husband of 30 years, investment broker Edgar H. Ward, when he learned reality about her job as narrator on ABC-TV's new daytime show, Confidential for Women.

"Since the program is New York-based and will run from 2 to 3:30 p.m. five times a week," she continued, "I'll spend Monday through Friday in New York and commute home to the west coast each week-end. My husband contends that I'll be sound asleep every Saturday."

"It was a lot tougher on him when I was in the theater. That is the hardest row to hoe for a man who isn't an actor and is married to an actress. In those days I'd take a nap at 3 p.m., get up and go to the theater, and give a performance. By the time the curtain went down about 11, I'd be all bright and alert. After a day of normal working hours, he'd be ready for bed at 11 p.m."

According to the gracious, attractive matron, television and movies are much easier on one's home life. "In those mediums," she said, "you get home evenings and week-ends. You may have to study your lines, but at least you're home while you're doing it."

AS NARRATOR of Confidential, which is a dramatized exploration of the pressure and problems confronting today's women, Miss Wyatt will introduce the program each day. The format is a week-long "play in five acts," she explained, "on such subjects as love after marriage, separation, divorce, etc."

Toward the end of each day's presentation, the actress will interview Dr. Theodore Lukac Rubin, psychiatrist and author, on the subject matter dramatized previously. He will offer observations and solutions on the problems.

"My questions will be addressed to the doctor," said Miss Wyatt. "I know nothing about psychiatry and have a naive approach to the subject. Perhaps this will be of benefit to the women who look in. In effect, what it amounts to is general for them is a free trip to a psychiatrist without leaving one's own home."

For fans of Miss Wyatt, her appearances on Confidential will come as a bonus. At 12:30 p.m. each day she is seen on the ABC network in reruns of Father Knows Best. "Bob Young and I may have a spat on 'Father,'" she said, "that is similar to one being shown on Confidential that day. I hope no one will be surprised if they are resolved differently on the two programs."

Miss Wyatt's role on Confidential for Women is but one of many that began when she left Bernard College at 19 to join the apprentice school of the Berkshire Playhouse at Stockbridge, Mass. Following an understudy assignment in the Broadway production of Trade Winds, she alternated between

FOR HIS FUTURE

A birthday party really thrills the children, and probably the climax comes when they blow out the candles, and make a wish. His wish would probably be for a bright shiny new toy, but you as a parent would wish for him the things that really count, such as good health, happiness, friends and along with these deeper and more serious things should be a prayer for him to have the right interest and relationship to God. You can help these things by taking him to church Sunday.
